

Call for Manuscripts

Nagwa Expositions in Mathematics is a series of short expositions, each of which is devoted to the explanation of a single topic in mathematics. The intended audience of these expositions is undergraduate mathematics students along with enthusiastic high school students and their teachers.

Why Publish with Nagwa?

- > High standard review
- > Rapid publication
- > Published expositions freely available online
- > Selected publications translated into several languages
- > No submission, publication, or author charges
- > Published authors receive 10 print copies

Submit Your Manuscript
<http://www.nagwa.com/en/us/submit/>